Costanzina, designed by Paolo Rizzatto, gets a new look in gold and becomes a perfect gift idea for Christmas 2024, also thanks to the new flat packaging.

Luceplan presents a special holiday edition of Costanzina – in the table version – by Paolo Rizzatto, which with a new gold finish and ultra-flat packaging suggests cash&carry shopping. In tune with the slogan “Light up your Christmas”, it makes an ideal way to surprise family and friends with an exceptional present that is useful and elegant at the same time.

October 2024 – Part of the Costanza family, developed in 1986 thanks to the design brilliance of Paolo Rizzatto, Costanzina (1992) conserves all the characteristics of the iconic Costanza in a compact size: an intuition that is both simple and ingenious, to reinterpret the classic shaded lamp, combining elementary forms and lines with highly innovative technological solutions.

Across the long history of the Costanza family there have been many different chromatic offerings for the shade: from the forceful and dynamic hues of the Radieuse collection, to the painterly range of pastel tones in the Mezzo Tono collection. For the upcoming holiday season, Luceplan presents a new gold finish for the Costanzina table lamp – on the diffuser and the structure – which brings out the qualities of the matte surface and adds a touch of elegance and personality to spaces.

The new Costanzina with a gold finish, thanks to the disassembly of all its parts and the possibility of shaping the flat sheet of the shade using snaps, comes in special packaging formulated to contain the object in a practical flat package. A practical, element and above all everlasting gift idea for Christmas 2024.
