BLOWN SW4

Originally introduced in 2014, Blown never ceases to mesmerise design aficionados around the globe fascinated by its patterned reflections. The newest launch is a small, more compact version of the existing pendant, available in silver and opal glass. Adding an extra dimension to the beauty of surface and two dramatically different effects of light distribution.

“It’s rare to find a design like the Blown pendant, which not only illuminates a room, it also transforms your surroundings into art,” adds &tradition CEO / Founder Martin Kornbek Hansen. “People love the surface texture. By launching a smaller version in opal and silver, it’s a lamp that continues to leave people utterly enthralled.”

Whether you choose to have one lamp or several together as a cluster, the effect is amazing both on and off.
